a note from your counselor

April is busy-busy for us at eCampus! Lots of testing, preparing for next school year, and helping students push through quarter four. As the year continues to fly by, let's take time to notice and honor how far we have come. I am continually challenging students to seek balance in their life, find joy in small things, and commit to what matters.

As always, I love being your counselor.

April is Financial Literacy month

Need to make up a missing credit? Want to get ahead toward graduation so you can have that awesome Senior Half-Day schedule? Consider taking a summer school class at eCampus! We offer all of our semester-long classes over the summer. Here is some more info:

- Fees: $300 per credit ($150/half credit), to be paid at the start of the class
- Schedule: May 23rd - July 14th
- Finals in-person at Peoria High School July 13 & 14

Here is the link to sign up!

Or email Mrs Salari for more information or for help choosing the right class.

We know that financial literacy is very important for everyone but how do we take the steps to educate young people about managing money and planning for their future? These days, there are more resources available than ever! At eCampus, we have an elective titled Personal Finance & Economics that can be a great place to start! And BONUS: this course satisfies the Senior Social Studies Economics credit.

Also, the free online resource Khan Academy has easy-to-understand financial literacy lessons on their website.
