Social people (Helpers) like to work with people to enlighten, inform, help, train, or cure them, or are skilled with words. They often prefer activities that involve helping, healing, or developing others. Their traits often include cooperative, friendly, sociable, and understanding.

They excel at socializing, helping others, and teaching. They like tasks that involve teamwork, social interaction, relationship building, and improvement of society. They enjoy activities that are public, humanitarian, educational, philanthropic, interpersonal, and service-oriented.

Social careers frequently involve working with, communicating with, and teaching people. These occupations often involve helping or providing service to others.
