

Life After Liberty

We know that approximately 15% of Liberty graduates enter the workforce each year after graduation. Some are taking a break from school while they “figure out what they want to do with their life.” Others need to earn an immediate income to help support themselves or their family. Whatever the reason, we want our graduates to know that there are Adult Training Programs out there where you can get specific job training to gain the skills needed to enter the workforce in jobs that typically pay higher wages than many entry level jobs.

Check out some of these resources to educate yourself on opportunities that match your interests and skillset:
